Outlook Good For Lurleen

LURLEEN WALLACE

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cancer specialists said today Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama "spent a very restful night" after an operation which may rid her of a malignancy.

A bulletin issued by M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute said Mrs. Wallace sat on the side of her bed this morning.

Her doctors said they are "pleased with her progress" and that all of the vital signs—such as pulse, heart beat and respiratory rate—are normal.

The hospital said the governor will return to Alabama within two or three weeks "if no complications develop" during the post-operative period.

A cancerous tumor in the lower abdomen was removed Monday during an operation that lasted almost five hours. One of her doctors said afterward, "We found nothing that would prevent" the governor's complete recovery.

It was her second operation for cancer in 18 months.

Her husband, former Gov. George Wallace, whose concern for his wife's health had become increasingly visible, said he was "elated" and "very thankful" for the doctors' encouraging prophecy.

He will stay at his wife's bedside "as long as she is in the hospital."

The hospital director and chief surgeon, Dr. R. Lee Clark, said Mrs. Wallace, 40, will return to Houston in two months or so for X-ray therapy.

Missing Spacecraft Safe; It Wasn't Lost at All!

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A beehive-shaped spacecraft built to help scientists send biological creatures into orbit is safely in a Cape Kennedy hangar today after being listed as missing all day Monday.

While Florida highway patrolmen combed state roads, a truck carrying the missing craft arrived at Cape Kennedy Monday evening about 18 hours late.

The driver "didn't know there was any panic about the thing," said Robert H. Gray, director of unmanned launch operations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Kennedy Space Center.

The spacecraft is worth several million dollars. It is due to be launched about Aug. 23 to test the effects of weightlessness and radiation on living cells.

General Electric Co. prime contractor, said it requested a search for the craft after it failed to appear at Cape Kennedy by 4 p. m. Monday.

Gray said a driver of the All-states Van Lines Truck apparently became ill while en route from GE's plant near Philadelphia, leaving his partner to drive alone. The lone driver made an unscheduled overnight stop to rest, officials explained.

IT'S UP TO THEM — Defense Secretary Robert McNamara talks with S/Sgt. John Carrido of Guam following a demonstration of the latest in radio equipment being used by the 9th Division in Vietnam's Mekong Delta. McNamara, touring bases in the area, said that "success or failure" in the Vietnam war is up to the South Vietnamese themselves.

Local Child Welfare Board Opposed to Remodeling

The Pickaway County Child Welfare Board Monday informed County Commissioners its members were opposed to "spending a great deal of money" to remodel the present Children's Home.

In a letter to Commissioners Lloyd Melvin, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris, the board reaffirmed its position that a new facility should be constructed.

An alternative proposal recommended in the letter was that commissioners purchase two group homes, one for boys and one for girls, to be used as receiving centers.

The present Children's Home has been condemned and after Sept. 30 will receive only a temporary certification.

AFTER that date, no new children will be allowed to be placed in the home — not even for an overnight stay. With the Child Welfare Board increasing its foster home program, within a matter of months the home will be vacant according to Ralph Starkey, executive secretary of the board.

Commissioners, who were ready to proceed with investigating more intensively the cost of remodeling the present structure to meet state standards, are now undecided as to what action to take.

Ralph Crooks, a Lancaster architect, estimated the cost of remodeling at between $85,000 and $100,000. Commissioners believe the necessary repairs can be made for much less.

However, Commissioner Morris pointed out Monday that: "It would be foolish for us to follow a course of action which the Child Welfare Board does not want."

Commissioners believe a bond issue to construct a new home would never be approved by the voters. They have also voiced opposition to purchasing homes to be used as receiving facilities.

In other business, Commissioners authorized the transfer of $500 from the unanticipated emergencies fund to the Child Welfare Board budget to pay for a summer recreation director.

THE recreation director is approved under a federal program and the county will be reimbursed with federal funds.

Also discussed was the possibility of employing a case-worker on a temporary basis to replace Mrs. Sylvia Johnson, who has been granted an educational leave effective in October, to continue her college education.

Mrs. Johnson will be reimbursed $300 a month plus tuition with federal funds during the time she is attending college.

During yesterday's session, Pauline Reese, Pickaway County Welfare director, met with commissioners. She pointed out the sharp increase during May and June in new relief cases. There were 36 new applications in May and 50 in June. Last year there were 16 new applications for relief in June.

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist gangs, stepping up their terror tactics in an effort to keep Hong Kong's transport workers off the job, killed two men and set fire to two streetcars and three buses in a series of postmidnight attacks today.

Hundreds of frightened bus and streetcar operators stayed home despite government promises of "effective protection" for those who reported for work.

Transport Commissioner A. J. Shephard declined to say what protective measures were being taken "because we do not want to reveal our plans until they become needed."

Chinese claiming Communist contacts in this British colony said local Communist leaders planned "two or three killings a day" to try to scare transport workers off their jobs. The informants said the terror campaign was planned after a Communist strike last month failed to halt transport.

KREMLIN POWER STRUGGLE SEEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander N. Shelepin, former head of the Soviet secret police and long a contender for top power, was named today to the powerless post of Soviet trade union boss.

The demotion of the ambitious, 48-year-old leader followed elimination of a number of his proteges from key jobs amid signs of a Kremlin power struggle.

Recent events have indicated that, from a leading position in the collective leadership that succeeded Nikita S. Khrushchev in October 1964, Shelepin has been progressively isolated within the Kremlin high command headed by Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

U.S. Plane Fails In Congo Rescue

South Viet Base Routs Attackers

SAIGON (AP) — Almost 1,000 North Vietnamese — regulars partly overran a South Vietnamese base camp today then were hurled back into the jungle with losses of at least 116 killed and many more reported wounded and dragged away.

Striking before dawn, two North Vietnamese battalions rushed toward the barbed wire and sandbagged bunkers and cut through one corner of the defense perimeter.

For more than an hour the fighting was savage. One South Vietnamese soldier had his wife and two children in his bunker; the wife was killed by a charging Red soldier who was then killed by the South Vietnamese trooper.

A few hours earlier an American paratrooper force stumbled into a fortified ambush in the central highlands and suffered 26 dead and 49 wounded. The Americans reported only six of the enemy killed.

The camp is manned by a battalion charged with protecting pacification workers in surrounding villages and hamlets.

U.S. headquarters said the American paratroopers who were hit in the central highlands Monday evidently marched into a well fortified enemy position in the rainy jungles.

McNamara Cool Toward Troop Request

SAIGON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will not recommend sending all the additional troops the U.S. Command in Vietnam told him it needs to prosecute the war fully, a high American source said today.

McNamara, on his ninth trip to Vietnam, also reportedly ordered Gen. William C. Westmoreland's command to cut away the fat from the 466,000-man American military force and step up the effectiveness of the U.S. fighting machine.

With 80 American maneuver battalions, the U.S. Command normally has only about 40,000 to 50,000 combat troops available for operations.

The secretary was reliably reported to have pressed for limited integration of Vietnamese troops into American units to get the Saigon army to handle a bigger share of the fighting, now done mostly by American battalions.

However, some additional troops are expected to be sent following the secretary's report to President Johnson. Westmoreland was reported to have asked for 100,000 to 140,000 men to prosecute the war at an optimum speed. He also submitted studies of what Washington could expect with various smaller amounts of troops.

Before he left this afternoon for the United States, McNamara told newsmen of Washington's troop policy since mid-1965. "It was then, it is now and I expect it will be in the future to provide the troops our commanders think necessary."

He added that in the rapid buildup to date, U.S. commanders had overlooked means of getting the most use of their forces.

Welfare Increase Backers To Stage Public 'Funeral'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Steering Committee for Adequate Welfare says its hopes for welfare increases are dead and that the funeral will be Friday at the Statehouse.

The group, which has long been campaigning for state legislation to raise welfare payments to 100 per cent of recommended standards, said Monday that a casket will be carried at the Statehouse demonstration, symbolizing "dashed hopes."

However, the group said it also will present its demands again to Welfare Director Denver White.

Bonn To Keep Up NATO Obligation

BONN, West Germany (AP) — West Germany will be able to keep up its commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization even if it cuts its army, Foreign Minister Willy Brandt said Monday.

But he stressed that so far the government has decided only to prune the defense budget, not to scale down the army. According to reliable estimates, however, the 1968 defense slash of $500 million will result in a reduction of 40,000-60,000 troops from the 461,000-man army.

Move To Save Hostages Can't Be Completed

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A U.S. Air Force transport plane failed today in an attempt to rescue white hostages held by mutinous mercenaries in Kisangani in the northeast Congo, the Congolese radio reported.

The broadcast did not say why the mission failed, but presumably the mercenaries refused to allow the plane to land.

The Belgian radio had reported the plane took off from Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, on its mercy mission to Kisangani, where a mutiny against the Congolese army broke out last week.

Earlier the Belgian Foreign Ministry announced the rescue operation had not taken place. Reliable sources here said its mission had been judged useless.

The plane's first task was to make radio contact with the control tower at Kisangani airport and ask for permission to land. Failing this it was to circle the field at a low altitude looking for a signal to land.

Congolese authorities appealed to mercenaries over the radio Monday to allow the landing. They told them to place a truck covered with a white sheet at the end of the runway in case of acceptance. A black sheet would mean no landing was permitted.

If mercenaries were to prevent the rescue mission, Congolese troops had orders to attack the airport. The Congolese claimed the mercenaries held only the airport and hospital.

The hostages were reported held at the Kisangani airport by white foreign mercenaries who mutinied against the Congolese government last week and seized the airport.

Congolese President Joseph D. Mobutu announced Monday night that the U.S. plane would fly low over the Kisangani airport this morning and look for a sign it could land to remove the white hostages.

Mobutu vowed to launch an attack on the mercenaries in Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, if they refused to let the U.S. transport land and pick up the hostages. He said they included women and children, university professors and perhaps 20 journalists.

The newsmen were held after they landed in Kisangani in a Sabena Airlines plane flown by Capt. Eddie Koller. Koller arrived in Johannesburg, South Africa, Monday, and said he had been forced by the mercenaries to fly wounded soldiers to Kariba, Rhodesia.

Typhoon Hits Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Typhoon Clara hit the northeast coast of Formosa this afternoon with winds of 105 miles an hour. It struck between Taipei and Hualien, on the Pacific Coast 75 miles to the south.

Adult Retardation Center Planned for Pickaway County

The Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. has set a goal of $5,000 to establish an activity center for retarded adults.

In a meeting of the board of directors of the Mental Health Assn. Monday held in the home of Mrs. David Whaley, plans for the center were formulated.

Mrs. Whaley, chairman of the local mental health unit, announced the center will be opened in October.

Cost of operating the center for one year has been estimated at $5,000, with a primarily volunteer staff.

A location for the center is being sought. The purpose of the center is to help mentally retarded adults form successful work habits and to develop their social well-being.

After the first year of operation, the center will be funded by the state.

Local Child Welfare Board Opposed to Remodeling

The Pickaway County Child Welfare Board Monday informed County Commissioners its members were opposed to "spending a great deal of money" to remodel the present Children's Home.

In a letter to Commissioners Lloyd Melvin, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris, the board reaffirmed its position that a new facility should be constructed.

An alternative proposal recommended in the letter was that commissioners purchase two group homes, one for boys and one for girls, to be used as receiving centers.

The present Children's Home has been condemned and after Sept. 30 will receive only a temporary certification.

However, Commissioner Morris pointed out Monday that: "It would be foolish for us to follow a course of action which the Child Welfare Board does not want."

Commissioners believe a bond issue to construct a new home would never be approved by the voters. They have also voiced opposition to purchasing facilities to be used as receiving facilities.

In other business, Commissioners authorized the transfer of $500 from the unanticipated emergencies fund to the Child Welfare Board budget to pay for a summer recreation director.

THE recreation director is approved under a federal program and the county will be reimbursed with federal funds.

Also discussed was the possibility of employing a case-worker on a temporary basis to replace Mrs. Sylvia Johnson, who has been granted an educational leave effective in October, to continue her college education.

Mrs. Johnson will be reimbursed $300 a month plus tuition with federal funds during the time she is attending college.

During yesterday's session, Pauline Reese, Pickaway County Welfare director, met with commissioners. She pointed out the sharp increase during May and June in new relief cases. There were 36 new applications in May and 50 in June. Last year there were 16 new applications for relief in June.

A government statement said the mercenaries were among three rebel companies of 300 men wiped out over the weekend. Government casualties were announced as 6 dead and 12 injured, the first figures given by the government.

The government newspaper in northern Nigeria reported 29 white mercenaries were killed near besieged Nsukka and said one senior Biafran officer had defected. Reports of continuing hard fighting at Nsukka were taken as indication of strong resistance by the Biafran rebels against the central government.

Nsukka, 15 miles south of the Nigerian-Biafran border, is a key point for federal troops in their drive on the Biafran capital of Enugu, 49 miles to the south. The town was formerly the home of the University of Nigeria.

Armed Men Seize Ship, Smash Radio

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Six armed men believed to be Cuban stowaways seized command of the cargo vessel Freight Transporter off Miami Beach early today, then came ashore in a lifeboat after smashing the ship's radio, the Coast Guard reported.

At 3 a. m., several persons at Miami Beach reported seeing a lifeboat beached and six men armed with rifles and hand guns getting into a taxicab. Police recovered the boat at 13th Street.

The Freight Transporter, a 353-foot Panamanian-registered vessel, reportedly arrived at Miami's Dodge Island port Friday from Guatemala and sailed at 12:30 a. m. today on the return voyage, carrying seven passengers and a crew of 31.

The Coast Guard said the six men took command of the ship after she cleared Dodge Island and until 2 a. m. held the crew and passengers at gunpoint.

Miami Beach police and FBI agents boarded the ship as she lay about two miles offshore this morning.

McNamara Cool Toward Troop Request

Won't Recommend All Asked by Vietnam Command

SAIGON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will not recommend sending all the additional troops the U.S. Command in Vietnam told him it needs to prosecute the war fully, a high American source said today.

McNamara, on his ninth trip to Vietnam, also reportedly ordered Gen. William C. Westmoreland's command to cut away the fat from the 466,000-man American military force and step up the effectiveness of the U.S. fighting machine.

With 80 American maneuver battalions, the U.S. Command normally has only about 40,000 to 50,000 combat troops available for operations.

He also submitted studies of what Washington could expect with various smaller amounts of troops.

Before he left this afternoon for the United States, McNamara told newsmen of Washington's troop policy since mid-1965. "It was then, it is now and I expect it will be in the future to provide the troops our commanders think necessary."

However, he qualified this, saying: "What is necessary depends on the extent to which we are using the resources we have available to us." He noted the allies have over a million men under arms and said: "There are many ways open to increase the effectiveness of those men if we set our minds and hearts to it."

He added that in the rapid buildup to date, U.S. commanders had overlooked means of getting the most use of their forces.

Adult Retardation Center Planned for Pickaway County

The Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. has set a goal of $5,000 to establish an activity center for retarded adults.

In a meeting of the board of directors of the Mental Health Assn. Monday held in the home of Mrs. David Whaley, plans for the center were formulated. Mrs. Whaley, chairman of the local mental health unit, announced the center will be opened in October.

Cost of operating the center for one year has been estimated at $5,000, with a primarily volunteer staff.

A location for the center is being sought. The purpose of the center is to help mentally retarded adults form successful work habits and to develop their social well-being.

After the first year of operation, the center will be funded by the state.

Move To Save Hostages Can't Be Completed

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A U.S. Air Force transport plane failed today in an attempt to rescue white hostages held by mutinous mercenaries in Kisanangani in the northeast Congo, the Congolese radio reported.

The broadcast did not say why the mission failed, but presumably the mercenaries refused to allow the plane to land.

The Belgian radio had reported the plane took off from Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, on its mercy mission to Kisanangani, formerly known as Stanleyville, where a mutiny against the Congolese army broke out last week.

Earlier the Belgian Foreign Ministry announced the rescue operation had not taken place. Reliable sources here said its mission had been judged useless.

The plane's first task was to make radio contact with the control tower at Kisanangani airport and ask for permission to land. Failing this it was to circle the field at a low altitude looking for a signal to land.

Congolese authorities appealed to mercenaries over the radio Monday to allow the landing. They told them to place a truck covered with a white sheet at the end of the runway in case of acceptance. A black sheet would mean no landing was permitted.

If mercenaries were to prevent the rescue mission, Congolese troops had orders to attack the airport. The Congolese claimed the mercenaries held only the airport and hospital.

The hostages were reported held at the Kisanangani airport by white foreign mercenaries who mutinied against the Congolese government last week and seized the airport.

Congolese President Joseph D. Mobutu announced Monday night that the U.S. plane would fly low over the Kisanangani airport this morning and look for a sign it could land to remove the white hostages.

Mobutu vowed to launch an attack on the mercenaries in Kisanangani, formerly Stanleyville, if they refused to let the U.S. transport land and pick up the hostages. He said they included women and children, university professors and perhaps 20 journalists.

The newsmen were held after they landed in Kisanangani in a Sabena Airlines plane flown by Capt. Eddie Koller. Koller arrived in Johannesburg, South Africa, Monday, and said he had been forced by the mercenaries to fly wounded soldiers to Kariba, Rhodesia.

Fiscal Report Shows Decline In Sales Tax

While Ohio's sales and use taxes soared to a new record high in the fiscal 1966-67, Pickaway County was one of only five counties that failed to record a gain in sales tax collection over the year.

Pickaway County was listed as 4 per cent off, according to the yearly report submitted by State Treasurer John D. Herbert. Other counties failing to show an increase were Clinton, off .32 per cent; Morrow, off 2.4 per cent; Paulding, off .8 per cent and Preble, off 1.3 per cent.

State-wide, the total gain was dulled somewhat by the lag in auto sales, the state treasurer noted Tuesday in the fiscal year-end report.

Herbert said sales and use tax collections from the state's 88 counties amounted to more than $368.2 million in the period — an increase over fiscal 1965-66 of more than $13.3 million, or 5.65 per cent.

He said motor vehicle, house trailer sales and use tax collections for the period fell 2.64 per cent, or more than $2.1 million, from fiscal 1965-66. Collections for 1966-67 amounted to more than $79.7 million as compared to the $79.7 million collected in the previous fiscal year.

Herbert said the auto sales lag was noticeable in 60 counties. Tax collections in the 28 counties that recorded gains ranged from fractional to 14 per cent in Monroe County. Large percentage decrease was in Knox County, where collections plunged 11.4 per cent.

According to Parsons, the insulators are on poles west of Route 23 on the Pennsylvania Railroad line and east of the Scioto River.

Value of the three insulators was $300.

U.S. Denies Arms Help For Nigeria

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration rejected rebellion-torn Nigeria's request for military aid just as edgy congressional leaders began fuming that such help, coupled with earlier dispatch of U.S. planes to the Congo, could invite Communist meddling in Africa.

A congressional uproar Mon day greeted Sunday's announcement that three transport planes and 150 men had been sent to the Congo, torn by a mercenary-led rebellion.

Hours later, just as Capitol Hill began sounding off against a hint that such aid might go to Nigeria, too, the State Department turned down Nigeria's request, saying its rebellion was purely internal.

In almost the same breath that some congressmen expressed fears of a Vietnam-type involvement in Africa, they discounted the optimistic report from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that the military war is going well in Vietnam.

Some said they expect McNamara's visit to result in dispatch of more troops to Asia and a tax increase to pay for them.

With both Vietnam doves and hawks criticizing the Congo action, the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees summoned Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a private explanation today of the administration's position.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee challenged a State Department spokesman's contention that the United States is obligated to uphold the "territorial integrity and unity" of Nigeria and the Congo.

"This business of guaranteeing the territorial integrity of nations all around the world is being carried too far," Fulbright said. "What treaties do we have that call for our intervention in the domestic affairs of other countries? So far as I know, there are none that apply in Africa."

A portion of Nigeria has proclaimed itself the independent nation of Biafra.

Fulbright, a vigorous critic of Johnson's Vietnam policies, said he regards even the Congo aid as a "wide open invitation to the Russians and the Red Chinese to stir up trouble in Africa."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Armed Services Committee agreed.

Mansfield said in a separate interview any U. S. aid to Nigeria would only compound the mistake he said had been committed in making aircraft available to Congo President Joseph D. Mobutu.

"I hope the State Department finally comes to realize that Congress and the American people do not believe that we can intervene in every kind of conflict in the world because when we do we are always left holding the defense umbrella," he said.

He said he hoped Johnson would notice the criticism of the Congo action.

Still Accomodations At Canada's Expo 67

MONTREAL (AP) — Despite a host of "no vacancy" signs due to the tide of tourists to Expo 67, experts on the lodging situation say there are plenty of places for the visitor without reservations to stay. All he has to do is find them.

The accommodations may not be ideal and in some cases may be more expensive than usual, but they are available with a little enterprise and determination—despite reports of impossible overcrowding.

U.S. Denies Arms Help For Nigeria

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration rejected rebellion-torn Nigeria's request for military aid just as edgy congressional leaders began fuming that such help, coupled with earlier dispatch of U.S. planes to the Congo, could invite Communist meddling in Africa.

A congressional uproar Mon day greeted Sunday's announcement that three transport planes and 150 men had been sent to the Congo, torn by a mercenary-led rebellion.

Hours later, just as Capitol Hill began sounding off against a hint that such aid might go to Nigeria, too, the State Department turned down Nigeria's request, saying its rebellion was purely internal.

In almost the same breath that some congressmen expressed fears of a Vietnam-type involvement in Africa, they discounted the optimistic report from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that the military war is going well in Nigeria.

Some said they expect McNamara's visit to result in dispatch of more troops to Asia and a tax increase to pay for them.

With both Vietnam doves and hawks criticizing the Congo action, the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees summoned Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a private explanation today of the administration's position.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee challenged a State Department spokesman's contention that the United States is obligated to uphold the "territorial integrity and unity" of Nigeria and the Congo.

"This business of guaranteeing the territorial integrity of nations all around the world is being carried too far," Fulbright said. "What treaties do we have that call for our intervention in the domestic affairs of other countries? So far as I know, there are none that apply in Africa."

A portion of Nigeria has proclaimed itself the independent nation of Biafra.

Fulbright, a vigorous critic of Johnson's Vietnam policies, said he regards even the Congo aid as a "wide open invitation to the Russians and the Red Chinese to stir up trouble in Africa."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Armed Services Committee agreed.

Mansfield said in a separate interview any U. S. aid to Nigeria would only compound the mistake he said had been committed in making aircraft available to Congo President Joseph D. Mobutu.

"I hope the State Department finally comes to realize that Congress and the American people do not believe that we can intervene in every kind of conflict in the world because when we do we are always left holding the defense umbrella," he said.

He said he hoped Johnson would notice the criticism of the Congo action.

Still Accommodations

At Canada's Expo 67 MONTREAL (AP) — Despite a host of "no vacancy" signs due to the tide of tourists to Expo 67, experts on the lodging situation say there are plenty of places for the visitor without reservations to stay. All he has to do is find them.

The accommodations may not be ideal and in some cases may be more expensive than usual, but they are available with a little enterprise and determination—despite reports of impossible overcrowding.

GE Annual Shutdown Set Monday

General Electric's Circleville Lamp Plant will begin its annual vacation shutdown period on Monday, it was reported today by E. G. Grigg, plant manager.

The plant will close for three weeks, the weeks of July 17, 24, and 31. This is the third three-week shutdown for the local plant. Last year, the plant operated some departments during part of the shutdown due to exceptionally high demand for some lamp types. In previous years the plant closed for only two weeks.

Many vacation trips are planned by local General Electric employees, Grigg said, including trips to Expo '67, Florida, the far west, Hawaii and numerous other places.

Except for a limited number of personnel who will be in the plant during the vacation period, all operations will be idle, the plant manager said.

Production will resume at the plant on Aug. 7.

California Freeways Jammed, But at Least They're Free

EDITOR'S NOTE—The author of the following reflections on driving in the East moved earlier this year from Sacramento, Calif., to Alexandria, Va.

By DEREK SCHOEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Like Hollywood or the hippies, freeways are the butt of countless jokes about California. So humor-connected has become the subject of the Golden State's high-speed, traffic-clogged highways that even one-time Californians tend to forget—at least until they come East—one nice thing about freeways: They're free.

turnpikes, thruways and the like that are the East Coast equivalent. You can drive at high speeds in the East. You can travel comfortably. But you can't do it for nothing. Take, for example, the unsuspecting ex-Californian who drives from Washington to Philadelphia on the newest roads available. He travels Interstate 95 the 40 miles to Baltimore, Md., in less than an hour. So far he is out of pocket only the cost of the gas his car has burned. But then he begins searching his pockets for change and grappling with his wallet for cash in a pantomime that seems endless. First, he arrives at a tunnel that takes him beneath Baltimore's harbor. It's a nice, clean tunnel and only a Scrooge would begrudge the 50 cents he has to fork out to use it. Then it's off through northern Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, where the toll booths seem only slightly less numerous than the trees. Consider the Maryland section of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Highway. The toll is $1, or about 2 cents a mile. And for the unwary, the cost can go up. The driver who has laid his $1 and follows a sign to one off-highway service station finds it costs him two bits to get back on. Later come the 30-cent toll for the 15-mile Delaware section of the same highway, 50 cents for crossing the Delaware Memorial Bridge at Wilmington and 40 cents for the 30 miles of the New Jersey Turnpike to the Philadelphia turnoff. The jokes about California freeways usually include a reference to the driver who missed his turnoff and had to travel many extra miles before he could turn around. There's an East Coast varia-

That Pavement Plato Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

What this country needs is a way for the middle-aged to blow off steam.

Nobody in America has more things to revolt about than the man or woman between 40 and 65, but there is no organized way for him or her to show his wrath except to write a letter to a congressman. For all the good that does, it might as well be addressed to the man in the moon.

The middle-aged are the most overworked and underappreciated class in the nation. What agency considers their plight? None. And they are usually so busy taking care of others that they don't have time to take proper care of themselves.

They are the forgotten heroes of this civilization.

They pay most of the taxes, are the chief support of churches and universities, do most of the world's work and most of its worrying, and suffered most of its heart and ulcer attacks. And after raising their own children they have to start in serving as unpaid baby sitters for their grandchildren.

Numbly they ask themselves: "When does the fun begin?" For them, it doesn't.

The plight of the middle-aged today is pretty much the same as that of a blind mule in a coal mine. They are taken for granted—by their government, by their children, and, worst of all, even by themselves.

Welfare recipients march on City Hall, the racially oppressed manufacture street riots, famers destroy their crops to protest low prices, and college lads are free to stage panty raids or picket their draft boards.

Every class or creed in America has a way of venting its anger except the forlorn, overlooked middle-aged class. It has found no method to voice its complaints or get its grievances redressed.

Not for him, the middle-aged man, comes the thrill of throwing stones at the police, besieging a foreign embassy, or even hanging someone in effigy. Nope, he just stands there quietly bleeding at the crossroads of time, getting more lumps every year.

The government turns on fire-plugs to free showers for the kids, grants scholarships for older students, subsidizes housing for the poor, gives medical care to the elderly, spends billions on underprivileged abroad.

But the faceless middle-aged man gets from Uncle Sam nothing but a big fat round pero.

If the government can provide free milk to kindergartners—who, after all, have yet to do a thing for their country—why can't it buy a luncheon martini once a week for a worn-out white-collar or factory worker of 50 who has been meeting his tax bills for more than a quarter century?

Why not government subsidized love nests for middle-aged bachelors, free parking places for anyone over 45, and government-paid annual vacations to all housewives who'll publicly confess they are older than 39?

Being middle-aged has been a rights by a mass walk on Washington, right now before they reach the wheel-chair age.

"He'd be a great portrait painter if he only knew when to stop."

The Business World

By John Cuniff

WASHINGTON AP — The new secretary of Commerce, Alexander Trowbridge, would feel a lot more able to fulfill the department's role as an administration link with business if he could draft a few industrialists.

At least four top-level jobs are open or about to open in the Commerce Department. And Trowbridge, 37, therefore, is spending a lot more time staffing his department than he would like.

Nevertheless, the athletic-looking former oil executive is developing a program that associates say he hopes will produce results, not through fanfare but from a steady, low-key attack by working an 8:15 a.m. to 7 p.m. day.

The first problem under attack, and perhaps the most important, is relations with business. Trowbridge is now attempting to develop a personal rapport with the business community, which likes to believe the department is its voice in administration councils. For a man of Trowbridge's articulateness, graciousness and ability, this might not be as difficult a job as forecast.

The new secretary—he was designated acting secretary in January and promoted in May—has planned a series of conferences with industrialists, the first of which was with those in the metals industry. Another is scheduled later this month with the chemical executives.

These conferences will be held in the Commerce Department building and ideally will include Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and other key administration figures.

"There are lots of different ways of doing this job, and this is one of them," Trowbridge said in an interview in his office. "Our purpose is to talk in a dispassionate way about industry's problems. And we try also to discuss our broad-scale economic problems."

This, Trowbridge says, is one way of fulfilling the department's charter of giving responsible representation of government to business and of representing business in government.

Such conferences, when held in the past, have been known to tone down considerably the critics of administration economic policy. And by putting the meetings on a regular schedule, Trowbridge hopes to magnify the result.

A particular interest of Trowbridge is in formulating a policy for what he believes is a billion-dollar opportunity for American business, the attack on public problems by private enterprise.

These "public-problem" areas include pollution, urban redevelopment, education, transportation, recreation, health care, poverty. In all these areas, he feels, industry can combine the social good with good profits.

"Many people see these problems as being so big and complex that they cannot be solved without an assault by both private and public sectors," he says.

Regardless of the mix, however, he believes "there are profits to be made."

Trowbridge says we are "beginning to think of our role" in this merging trend. At the moment, however, the role is being pursued through "exhortation" in speeches, personal meetings and conferences.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A strange experience happened to me recently in the practice of medicine. I watched a sequence of events unfold itself and learned how complex is the world of the sick.

A patient of mine has been married to a man for 17 years. They had two children. The wife always resented the intellectual attainments of the husband because she felt that her own chores kept her from similar growth.

In fact, she believed that he was able to read and progress mostly because she took over all the obligations in the running of the family. She was indeed limited and confined because of the innumerable tasks that are part of the care of the home.

The husband, like many of us, tended to take for granted the infinite detail that is involved in the total care of a family.

A mounting hostility grew between them and seemed to devitalize their relationship. Yet, their status might have continued uninterrupted but for the discovery that her husband was seeking extra-marital intellectual relations with a "co-worker."

After the first anger subsided the wife seemed to completely forgive without any insinuations or veiled reprimands.

Then a surprising thing happened when the wife suddenly became ill, complaining of many vague symptoms that kept her from fulfilling all the normal household obligations. Soon the husband found that he had to take over, at night, many of the chores that he previously had taken for granted.

More important, even, was the fact that he was thereby prevented from indulging in his intellectual pursuits. He found himself constricted and bound by an illness that dominated the family.

An interesting twist then occurred, when after an ordinary cold he developed, for the first time, an attack of asthma which terrified him, his wife and family. Suddenly, they found that his illness became the important one in the family and once again his wife had to take over the household chores that were no longer his.

The drama unfolded itself to me since both were my patients. I witnessed the interplay of guilt, anxiety, unexpressed anger and hostility as two relatively mature people jockeyed themselves into positions of importance with their illnesses.

The migraine attacks of the wife seemed to have the same psychological reasons as did her husband's asthma. The battle of the illnesses was subtle, continuous and destructive to the entire family.

When first I confronted them with the fact that there was a psychological reason for their illnesses, they both resented it. It was only when they were shown how complex is the relationship between the mind and the body did they both realize the need for psychological guidance. They, like many rather have it apply to other people, understand the word psychosomatic, but would rather have it apply to other people.

With proper guidance by a psychologist, both the husband and the wife were able to learn how much they depended on each other and how they could thrive if they did not take each other for granted. The last act of the drama was the happy re-establishment of a family life that had been threatened by a temporary loss of honest communication.

Painful "baseball fingers" should be X-rayed to be sure there is no fracture.

We Have a Debt to Tshombe

By John Chamberlain

The kidnapping of Moise Tshombe, formerly the Premier of the Congo, by plane hijackers in the sky over the Mediterranean, is just one more reminder that we live in an age of piracy. There is little point in deploring the situation, for there is no authority to whom one might address one's complaints. The UN is useless, for many of its member nations have been drilled to look the other way whenever Communist guerrilla operations start in, say Bolivia or in South Korea, or when a Nasser uses poison gas on Yemenites who have the effrontery to oppose him. Law itself has become an expression of lawlessness, as when the UN solemnly declares that Rhodesia, which has only internal problems, is a threat to the peace of the world and then proceeds to invoke economic sanctions against a nation that has attacked nobody.

There may be nothing that can be done through the UN to keep Moslem Algeria, which now has Tshombe in custody, from turning the hapless fellow over to the Congolese if it chooses to ignore the Koran's own teachings on the right to asylum. However, the U. S. will be ungrateful if it refuses to speak up against this latest example of piracy. In a sense, Tshombe is where he is today because he went along with the U. S. on a couple of occasions against his own better judgment. He was not "our man" when, as head of the breakaway Congolese province of Katanga, he defied the authority of the central Congolese government. But in 1964, some time after the Katangese rebellion had been crushed, the Congo had to call Tshombe back from exile and make him Premier in order to save the country from dissolution. Tshombe brought in some mercenaries who knew how to fight, and in a relatively swift campaign he drove the Communist-armed rebels out of the two-thirds of the Congo which they had either infiltrated or captured. The free world owes Tshombe a lot for this service, which saved more than the Congo itself from succumbing to Communist blandishments.

In the course of defeating the rebels, Tshombe allowed himself to be persuaded to follow military advice from Washington, D. C. He had sent his mercenaries against Stanleyville, which was then in rebel hands. It was his idea that the mercenaries would reach Stanleyville in time to prevent impending massacres. But the U. S. State Department prevailed upon him to let foreign paratroopers be airlifted to Stanleyville to crush the insurrection before the Congo's own mercenaries could get there. The paratroopers carried out their mission, but not without cost to Tshombe's "image" throughout Africa. It was said widely at the time that he had sold out to the "imperialists" in accepting their armed paratrooper help. The irony of the situation was underscored when the Congolese mercenary troops arrived in Stanleyville just after the paratroopers had done their job.

Having saved the Congo, Tshombe, as Premier, soon found himself the object of internal jealousies. He could get his bills discussed in parliament, but he could conjure little follow-up action out of President Joseph Kasavubu. With a presidential election coming up, Tshombe indicated that he wanted to run for the office himself. Whereupon Kasavubu threatened to fire him as Premier. Tshombe might have resisted removal, but, again following U. S. advice, he stepped down against his own better judgment. The Mobutu coup intervened, and there never was any election. Tshombe found himself an exile again, a victim of having played ball with the U. S.

"Be careful what you do," wrote Vachel Lindsay, "or 'Mumbo Jumbo, God of the Congo, will hoo-doo you.' But instead of being hoo-dooed by Mumbo-Jumbo, Tshombe has been hoo-dooed by Washington.

Tshombe is now wanted in the Congolese capital of Kinshasa, formerly Leopoldville, on charges of "treason." He is accused of hiring mercenaries in Europe to help him seize power again in his own country. Since Congolese politics are essentially barbaric, Tshombe's chances of rehabilitating himself may have depended on assembling his own force. In any case, the quarrel between Tshombe and the Congolese government is a domestic matter. It should not be allowed to affect his right of asylum in Algeria.

The U. S., which stands accused by the Moslem nations of giving aid and comfort to Israel, may not be in the good graces of Algeria at the moment. But it owes Moise Tshombe any help it can give to keep him from being extradited to the Congo, where he would almost certainly be condemned to death. If we don't stand up for our friends, there will be nobody left to stand up for us.

That Pavement Plato Again

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato:

What this country needs is a way for the middle-aged to blow off steam.

Nobody in America has more things to revolt about than the man or woman between 40 and 65, but there is no organized way for him or her to show his wrath except to write a letter to a congressman. For all the good that does, it might as well be addressed to the man in the moon.

The middle-aged are the most overworked and underappreciated class in the nation. What agency considers their plight? None. And they are usually so busy taking care of others that they don't have time to take proper care of themselves.

They are the forgotten heroes of this civilization.

They pay most of the taxes, are the chief support of churches and universities, do most of the world's work and most of its worrying, and suffered most of its heart and ulcer attacks. And after raising their own children they have to start in serving as unpaid baby sitters for their grandchildren.

Numbly they ask themselves: "When does the fun begin?" For them, it doesn't.

The plight of the middle-aged today is pretty much the same as that of a blind mule in a coal mine. They are taken for granted—by their government, by their children, and, worst of all, even by themselves.

Welfare recipients march on City Hall, the racially oppressed manufacture street riots, farmers destroy their crops to protest low prices, and college lads are free to stage party raids or picket their draft boards.

Every class or creed in America has a way of venting its anger except the forlorn, overlooked middle-aged class. It has found no method to voice its complaints or get its grievances redressed.

Not for him, the middle-aged man, comes the thrill of throwing stones at the police, besieging a foreign embassy, or even hanging someone in effigy. Nope, he just stands there quietly bleeding at the crossroads of time, getting more lumps every year.

The government turns on fire-plugs to free showers for the kids, grants scholarships for older students, subsidizes housing for the poor, gives medical care to the elderly, spends billions on underprivileged abroad.

But the faceless middle-aged man gets from Uncle Sam nothing but a big fat round pero.

If the government can provide free milk to kindergartners—who, after all, have yet to do a thing for their country—why can't it buy a luncheon martini once a week for a worn-out white-collar or factory worker of 50 who has been meeting his tax bills for more than a quarter century?

Why not government subsidized love nests for middle-aged bachelors, free parking places for anyone over 45, and government-paid annual vacations to all housewives who'll publicly confess they are older than 39?

Being middle-aged has been a rights by a mass walk on Washington, right now before they reach the wheel-chair age.

First Iron Curtain Crusade Success, Billy Graham Says

By BENNET M. BOLTON
ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Billy Graham regards his first crusade to a Communist country as a success although only about 2,000 persons turned out for each of his three meetings in Yugoslavia.

"Whenever the Gospel is preached — to one person, or a thousand or a million — that is a success," said the American evangelist before leaving by train Sunday night for Munich and the United States.

"Just the fact that he was able to come, that he was here with us, was a success in itself," said Dr. Jozip Horak, a Baptist leader who was Graham's host.

Arriving Friday in Zagreb, the tall, tanned American preached Saturday night at a Lutheran church and twice on Sunday, in a morning downpour and at dusk, on the soccer field of a Roman Catholic seminary.

There are only about 200,000 Protestants in this Marxist nation of Orthodox and Roman Catholic tradition whose government now professes atheism. Yugoslavia's constitution assures religious freedom and the Communist regime gives all religious minimal tolerance but no encouragement.

Graham made clear at a news conference Saturday that he would not go into political issues. Never once did he mention communism or allude to life under a totalitarian regime. He encouraged his listeners, largely farmers and villagers brought by bus from distant

Graham regarded his visit as a test for future trips farther east into Communist Europe.

He said he believed in the people-to-people contact idea elaborated by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"It's in the area of faith in God that we have something in common," he told a newsman.

First Iron Curtain Crusade Success, Billy Graham Says

By BENNET M. BOLTON

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Billy Graham regards his first crusade to a Communist country as a success although only about 2,000 persons turned out for each of his three meetings in Yugoslavia.

"Whenever the Gospel is preached — to one person, or a thousand or a million — that is a success," said the American evangelist before leaving by train Sunday night for Munich and the United States.

"Just the fact that he was able to come, that he was here with us, was a success in itself," said Dr. Jozip Horak, a Baptist leader who was Graham's host.

Arriving Friday in Zagreb, the tall, tanned American preached Saturday night at a Lutheran church and twice on Sunday, in a morning downpour and at dusk, on the soccer field of a Roman Catholic seminary.

There are only about 200,000 Protestants in this Marxist nation of Orthodox and Roman Catholic tradition whose government now professes atheism. Yugoslavia's constitution assures religious freedom and the Communist regime gives all religious minimal tolerance but no encouragement.

Graham made clear at a news conference Saturday that he would not go into political issues. Never once did he mention communism or allude to life under a totalitarian regime. He encouraged his listeners, largely farmers and villagers brought by bus from distant points in the countryside, to show their Christianity and be active in their churches. He said that Christ wanted his believers to obey civil authority.

Graham regarded his visit as a test for future trips farther east into Communist Europe.

He said he believed in the people-to-people contact idea elaborated by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"It's in the area of faith in God that we have something in common," he told a newsman.

Graham said he is due Wednesday at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., for a five-day stay for removal of an abscess of the upper jaw.

On the Label!

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — When she had a flat tire on her way to the Miss Arkansas Pageant Monday, Sharron Ann Evans, 20, of North Little Rock, remembered her father's advice: Raise the hood of the car and someone will stop.

Miss Evans, representing Ouachita Baptist University in the pageant, ran into one hitch. "I couldn't find the hood latch," she said.

Miss Evans had to change the tire herself.

Race Violence Costly

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An insurance adjuster estimates that more than 1,000 establishments, most of them businesses, were damaged during racial violence in June. Much of the damage was from looting, burning or thrown rocks.

Patricia Moss Is Wed To Michael McGinnis

MRS. MICHAEL G. MCGINNIS

Miss Patricia Ann Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Moss, Route 1, Kingston, became the bride of Michael McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McGinnis, 144 Watt St., Saturday, July 1, at 12:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Before an altar adorned with baskets of white gladioli, carnations and ferns, Msgr. Joseph E. McGlynn performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Eleanor Snyder, organist, presented nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau and alencon lace A-line gown with fitted lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. The detachable court train was edged in lace with applied white roses. Her headpiece was a cluster of silk flowers with a three tiered veil of pure silk English illusion. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses. Her only jewelry was a necklace, a gift of the groom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Jeffries. Bridesmaids were: Miss Donna Moss, sister of the bride; Mrs. Ralph England, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. Leonard Hardman and Miss Theresa Blubaugh as junior bridesmaid. Miss Patty Minshall was flower girl.

The bride's attendants were attired in light blue crystalettes full length dresses with white rose appliques edging their trains. They carried bouquets of white and blue carnations, and their headpieces were blue veils held by cabbage roses.

The flower girl also wore a blue crystalette full skirted dress with white roses applied on the skirt. She wore a blue circlet on her head and carried a basket of red rose petals.

Stephen Jones served the groom as best man. Seating the guests were, Richard Jeffries, Kenneth Graf and Gary George.

The bride's mother chose a yellow, embroidered linen dress with matching jacket, white accessories and a yellow hat. Mrs. McGinnis was attired in pink silk shantung with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

A reception in the American Legion Hall followed the ceremony. Hostesses were: Mrs. James Peters, Miss Brenda Fletcher, Mrs. Thomas Imler, Mrs. Donald Rowland, Miss Rose Justice and Mrs. Robert Smallwood.

The bridal table was centered with a five tiered cake topped with the traditional bride and groom. The white tablecloth was covered with blue net and white roses were scattered over the table. Behind the table hung a huge white open heart covered with blue net and white roses around the edges.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a lavender three piece suit with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Logan Elm High School and is employed as an office clerk at General Electric Co. The groom is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Out-of-town guests were from Columbus, Somerset, Cleveland, Chillicothe, Delaware and Indiana.

U.S. Quietly Prepares For Future Space Wars

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Returning to its moon base from patrol, a U.S. Air Force space ship suddenly is attacked by a craft from an earth nation.

Skillfully maneuvering at more than 5,000 miles an hour, the American spacemen zip in behind the attacker and open fire with a weapon that converts nuclear energy into a powerful beam. The "death ray" vaporizes the enemy ship.

The United States is not ready to fight such a Buck Rogers-style war in space. But quietly, secretly, this nation is developing a military space capability to counter a strong Soviet program.

Recent technological advances by both nations—and the growing nuclear threat of Red China—have spurred the United States to accelerate its military space effort, in both manned and unmanned programs.

After years of indecision, the Air Force last month awarded the first sizable contracts, totaling $855 million, for the Manned Orbiting Laboratory. The goal is to determine what military duties man can perform effectively in space.

The first flight of military astronauts is set for 1970, nearly three years behind the original schedule.

The Defense Department, after years of pressure from critics, appears ready to proceed with some sort of antiballistic missile program.

Much effort is concentrated on developing fantastic weapons and other military equipment.

Among them are reconnaissance satellites that will spot a soldier hiding in underbrush; a missile buried underground; submarines; communications satellites that will enable infantrymen in the field to confer on strategy; and far-ranging planes to exchange messages.

Rockets to knock down enemy satellites; laser and radiation beams to pulverize space or ground targets; rocket-burn nuclear bombs to destroy missile warheads; rockets with great power and versatility, and manned spaceships that will take off and land like conventional airplanes.

Sources cite five major reasons for the stepped up military space research:

—Knowledge that the Soviet Union is vigorously pushing for a military space capability.

—Titan 2 and Minuteman missiles in underground silos are threatened by a new warhead guidance system 10 times more accurate than any previous system. It would enable an intercontinental-range missile to hurl its nuclear payload to within 600 feet of a target.

—Polaris missiles deployed at sea are threatened by new sattellite reconnaissance devices that may soon be able to locate submarines hundreds of feet beneath the surface.

—U.S. missiles designed to penetrate Soviet defense are threatened by a potential Soviet capability to neutralize them by exploding nuclear bombs in their paths.

Last month the Soviet civil defense chief, Marshal Vasily I. Chuikov, claimed in Moscow that his country's antiballistic missile defense system could destroy nuclear-armed missiles before they reached Soviet territory. Only three months ago, in February, he had said the Soviet Union was not completely safe from missile attack.

—The world strategic equation has been changed sharply by Red Chinese achievements in nuclear explosives and by steadily decreasing costs which will permit other nations to deploy missile forces.

Defense Department sources say they are aware of these dangers but that security prevents them from reporting what is being done to counter them.

Many critics of the Defense Department and Johnson administration contend the United States is not moving fast enough to take advantage of the technological momentum built up during the ballistic missile and space programs.

They say the U.S. no longer can rely on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's theory that war can be avoided by "mutual deterrence." The theory is that an enemy will not attack if enough U.S. offensive forces can survive to launch a counterattack sufficient to destroy the enemy.

One of these critics is retired Air Force Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, who directed development of America's ballistic missile programs and played a key role in the approval of the Manned Orbiting Laboratory program.

Schriever says "the administration is not pushing technology." He says $3400 million to $700 million more should have been spent annually on advanced development in the last four or five years. He opposes the separation of space activities into military and peaceful spheres, contending it "simply serves to emphasize by comparison, the straightforwardness of the Soviet program."

At its annual convention in March, the Air Force Association called for "a sweeping re-examination and re-evaluation of national strategy in the light of current and projected technology and its impact on the world balance of power." Association officials noted what they called the "growing vulnerability" of U.S. missiles and expressed concern on how secure they would be in five years.

They said America was severely handicapped by the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and by the lack of basic knowledge about using nuclear bombs as a shield against ballistic missiles.

Most critics believe the Defense Department should be spending more effort, money and research on developing the soundest possible missile defense system.

Stating the administration position, John S. Foster Jr., director of defense research and engineering, said the United States had not reached a "technological plateau."

"Our capabilities in this area have been changed dramatically in the last 10 years. How can we be stagnating technologically in ballistic missile defense while we devote more than half a billion dollars to it in one year?"

He said the department's expenditures for research and development had increased about 30 per cent in the last decade and the budget request for fiscal 1968 was $8.1 million for more than 1,500 projects.

U.S. Plane Loss Mounts to 1,460

SAIGON (AP) — The United States has lost 1,460 planes over North and South Vietnam so far during the war, U.S. Command reported Monday.

Of these, 602 were bombers and other combat planes lost to enemy action while flying missions over North Vietnam, and 191 went down in combat over South Vietnam.

The remaining 667 planes were combat planes which went down because of mechanical troubles and accidents, and supporting noncombat plants such as transports and cargo planes which went down from either enemy action or nonhostile causes.

Announced helicopter losses in combat totaled 339.

U.S. Quietly Prepares For Future Space Wars

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Returning to its moon base from patrol, a U.S. Air Force space ship suddenly is attacked by a craft from an earth nation.

Skilfully maneuvering at more than 5,000 miles an hour, the American spacemen zip in behind the attacker and open fire with a weapon that converts nuclear energy into a powerful beam. The "death ray" vaporizes the enemy ship.

The United States is not ready to fight such a Buck Rogers-style war in space. But quietly, secretly, this nation is developing a military space capability to counter a strong Soviet program.

Recent technological advances by both nations—and the growing nuclear threat of Red China—have spurred the United States to accelerate its military space effort, in both manned and unmanned programs.

After years of indecision, the Air Force last month awarded the first sizable contracts, totaling $855 million, for the Manned Orbiting Laboratory. The goal is to determine what military duties man can perform effectively in space.

The first flight of military astronauts is set for 1970, nearly three years behind the original schedule.

The Defense Department, after years of pressure from critics, appears ready to proceed with some sort of antiballistic missile program.

Much effort is concentrated on developing fantastic weapons and other military equipment.

Among them are reconnaissance satellites that will spot a soldier hiding in underbrush; a missile buried underground; submarines; communications satellites that will enable infantrymen in the field to confer on strategy; and far-ranging planes to exchange messages.

Rockets to knock down enemy satellites; laser and radiation beams to pulverize space or ground targets; rocket-burn nuclear bombs to destroy missile warheads; rockets with great power and versatility, and manned spaceships that will take off and land like conventional airplanes.

Sources cite five major reasons for the stepped up military space research:

—Knowledge that the Soviet Union is vigorously pushing for a military space capability.

—Titan 2 and Minuteman missiles in underground silos are threatened by a new warhead guidance system 10 times more accurate than any previous system. It would enable an intercontinental-range missile to hurl its nuclear payload to within 600 feet of a target.

—Polaris missiles deployed at sea are threatened by new satellite reconnaissance devices that may soon be able to locate submarines hundreds of feet beneath the surface.

—U.S. missiles designed to penetrate Soviet defense are threatened by a potential Soviet capability to neutralize them by exploding nuclear bombs in their paths.

Last month the Soviet civil defense chief, Marshal Vasily I. Chuikov, claimed in Moscow that his country's antiballistic missile defense system could destroy nuclear-armed missiles before they reached Soviet territory. Only three months ago, in February, he had said the Soviet Union was not completely safe from missile attack.

—The world strategic equation has been changed sharply by Red Chinese achievements in nuclear explosives and by steadily decreasing costs which will permit other nations to deploy missile forces.

Defense Department sources say they are aware of these dangers but that security prevents them from reporting what is being done to counter them.

Many critics of the Defense Department and Johnson administration contend the United States is not moving fast enough to take advantage of the technological momentum built up during the ballistic missile and space programs.

They say the U.S. no longer can rely on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's theory that war can be avoided by "mutual deterrence." The theory is that an enemy will not attack if enough U.S. offensive forces can survive to launch a counterattack sufficient to destroy the enemy.

One of these critics is retired Air Force Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, who directed development of America's ballistic missile programs and played a key role in the approval of the Manned Orbiting Laboratory program.

Schriever says "the administration is not pushing technology." He says $3400 million to $700 million more should have been spent annually on advanced development in the last four or five years. He opposes the separation of space activities into military and peaceful spheres, contending it "simply serves to emphasize by comparison, the straightforwardness of the Soviet program."

At its annual convention in March, the Air Force Association called for "a sweeping re-examination and re-evaluation of national strategy in the light of current and projected technology and its impact on the world balance of power." Association officials noted what they called the "growing vulnerability" of U.S. missiles and expressed concern on how secure they would be in five years.

Red Cross Unit Begins Gift Program for Military

The volunteers of Pickaway County Red Cross have started one of their most ambitious projects of 1967.

The project is the production of 150 small cloth bags which will be filled with a variety of gifts and shipped to American Field Directors in South Vietnam. The gifts will be distributed to servicemen during the Christmas season.

The local chapter is joining with other chapters throughout the nation in the "Red Cross Shop Early — Vietnam 1967." Nationally, the goal is to make and fill at least 525,000 gift bags.

A similar program undertaken last year met with much enthusiasm from Vietnam servicemen. Pickaway County sent 100 bags last year. At least 20 thank-you notes were received here last year.

MRS. George Kerr, chairman of the Red Cross production, has announced that she and her helpers have completed nearly half of the bags and they are ready to be filled. The remainder of the quota will be finished this month.

The red and green bags are made of cotton material which is sturdy enough to withstand the tropical heat of Vietnam and remain serviceable long after the original contents have been used.

Each bag will contain a card identifying the chapter and names of cooperating individuals and agencies. The following gift items are suggested as suitable: new paperback books (adventure, science fiction, western, crossword puzzle, etc.); small packages of writing paper and self-seal envelopes; small address book; plastic toothbrush holder and toothbrush; dark colored terry-cloth washcloth; nail clippers; plastic cigarette case; pocket games; small decks of playing cards; chess; mailing size voice tapes (3 inch—150 inch length); plastic snapshot holders; windproof cigarette lighters; small kitchen size and sandwich-type plastic bags; wipe and shine shoe polish and small vacuum packed tins of candies and nuts.

If cash is received, the Red Cross will purchase items and help defray the mailing cost. Items may be left at the Red Cross Chapter House, 167 Watt St. For further information, call the Red Cross office, 474-5736 or Mrs. W. Garner, 474-6236, chairman of the program.

RIBBON CUTTING — Officials present to assist in the formal opening of the Super Duper Food Market Tuesday morning following remodeling program include from left to right, Bill Mize, supervisor; Gene Rase, produce dept.; Olan Tussing, meat dept.; Herb Steele, assistant manager; Sue Hart, head cashier; Bob Maurer, personnel director; Ray Heuer, store manager; Mayor Ben Gordon cutting the ribbon and Jack Downs, supervisor. Many anxious shoppers were present to make the opening a complete success.

DELICATESSEN — Another new feature of the Super Duper Store is the delicatessen. A customer's selection of main dish salads, fried chicken, ribs or a host of other treats makes a visit to the "Delie" worthwhile. Each dish prepared is seasoned with Super Duper's own sauces.

Kiwanians Hold Inter-Club Meet

Circleville Kiwanis Club held an inter-club meet with the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Columbus Monday at the Mecca Restaurant.

Nolan Sims, president of the Circleville Lions Club, gave a history of the organization of Lions International. He also outlined the objectives of the Circleville club.

A special guest last night was Amos Corey of London Kiwanis Club.

Dave Gillespie announced a program on "Keep America Beautiful" for next Monday. Fred Goeglein gave a partial report on the convention at Houston, Tex.

Johnson Charged With Assault

Cecil Johnson, Tarlton, was fined $50 and costs with the fine suspended in Circleville Municipal Court for assault and battery.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb also placed Johnson on probation for one year following the assault on Patsy Johnson.

Fighting Draws Fines

Two Circleville women were each fined $10 and court costs in Circleville Municipal Court on charges of disorderly conduct following a fight.

Norma T. Garner, 38, of 378 E. Mound St., and Ida Mae Reed, 45, of 217 E. Mound St., were handed the fines by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Children's Story Hour at Library Begins Saturday

Pickaway County District Public Library will stage the first weekly story hour for children of pre-school age through third grade 10 a. m. Saturday. Stories of interest will be read to the children during the hour, according to Warren C. Cravotta, head librarian. If there is sufficient demand, said Cravotta, the program could be expanded to include a separate group for children grades four through six.

The purpose of the story hour program is to promote and expand reading interests of the children in the area served by the library, according to Cravotta.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next few months look busy. The United States and most of the world seem headed into a slow waltz of words. This looks true for President Johnson, for Congress, and for foreign affairs in general.

President Johnson, with the 1968 presidential race only a year away, can be expected to start patting himself on the back in public speeches in live-lyer fashion than he has attempted for most of the past year.

His exuberance recently got the better of his reticence after two events which pleased him: —His summit meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, a meeting which, so far as the public knows, accomplished nothing but looked nice.

—His neat sidestep of the Arab-Israeli war, keeping the United States out of it, to the satisfaction of practically everyone in this country.

After that he sounded off in a Baltimore speech on the won-

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, July 11, the 192nd day of 1967. There are 173 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1804, Alexander Hamilton was mortally wounded in a duel fought with Aaron Burr at Weehawton, N.J.

On this date: In 1767, the sixth U.S. president, John Quincy Adams, was born.

In 1884, the Democratic convention at Chicago nominated New York's Gov. Grover Cleveland for president.

In 1937, American composer George Gershwin, died.

In 1944, President Franklin D. Roosevelt announced he was available for a fourth term.

In 1952, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was nominated for president at the Republican convention in Chicago.

Ten years ago — The U.S. Air Force announced it was canceling its Navaho intercontinental missile project.

Five years ago — The U.S. House of Representatives voted tentatively against a loan to the United Nations until other countries paid their overdue assessments.

One year ago — Soviet athletes said they would not take part in a track meet in Los Angeles because of their opposition to the Vietnam war.

Nobel Winners Seek Peace for Vietnam
OSLO, Norway (AP) — A number of Nobel Peace Prize winners have agreed to make a joint effort to mediate in the war in Vietnam, the newspaper Verdens Gang said today. It reported that the Rev. Dominique Georges Pire of Belgium, a Roman Catholic priest, and Philip J. Noel-Baker of Britain will leave for Hanoi later this month for talks with North Vietnamese leaders.

Deaf Man Perfects Midget Transistor Hearing Aid

If you can hear people talk and can't make out the words clearly then this may be the answer. An extremely small hearing aid using a tiny energized unit, has been perfected by a man who himself is hard of hearing and has been for over 10 years. If interested it is suggested you write A. W. tion. It was undistinguished in the first half.

This 90th Congress seemed clothed in defeating from the start. No one expected it to match the performance of the 89th which, in 1965, put on a fabulous performance, and it hasn't.

Besides, the 90th wasn't as thoroughly dominated by Johnson's Democrats as the 89th.

The 1966 elections, turning a lot more House seats over to the Republicans, gave them and Southern Democrats a lot more veto power over Johnson's requests.

And, since the 90th will remain here until the elections in November 1968, there's no reason to expect a sudden burst of energy next year, either.

Israel and the Arab world, which dominated the news with action in early June, even though their war didn't last long, are in their mumble-grumble period now and probably will rely on talk rather than action for quite a while.

For almost all of June the United Nations was as chatty as a psychiatrist's office, where the Arabs particularly eased their frustrations a bit with denunciation of Israel.

The defeated Arabs, unable by themselves to push the Israelis off their land, were not at all self-conscious about asking the United Nations to do the pushing for them. But the United Nations didn't.

And, since the Arabs are in no position to fight another war soon, for months to come they and the Israelis should be relying more on gable-gabble than guns.

The two big unpredictables in these next few months are Red China and Vietnam. The Chinese, undoubtedly puffed up over their progress in developing a hydrogen bomb, are still as chopped-up looking as a hamburger because of their internal dispute.

This may distract them for a while from any outside capers although the violence of the Chinese Communists in the British crown colony of Hong Kong, no doubt with the blessing and help of Peking, could turn grim.

Still unsettled, with no end in view, is the war in Vietnam. Johnson has to wrestle with the problem of sending, or not sending, more U.S. troops there. He is sure to be denounced in this country if he does or if he doesn't.

He will be denounced further if he doesn't send the troops and the war becomes a stalemate. There will be no end of talk about all this although the war itself seems there indefinitely.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next few months look glibly.

The United States and most of the world seem headed into a slow waltz of words. This looks true for President Johnson, for Congress, and for foreign affairs in general.

President Johnson, with the 1968 presidential race only a year away, can be expected to start patting himself on the back in public speeches in livelier fashion than he has attempted for most of the past year.

His exuberance recently got the better of his reticence after two events which pleased him:

—His summit meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, a meeting which, so far as the public knows, accomplished nothing but looked nice.

—His neat sidestep of the Arab-Israeli war, keeping the United States out of it, to the satisfaction of practically everyone in this country.

After that he sounded off in a Baltimore speech on the wonders of life in America. He got thunderous applause. Since he likes to be liked, this was probably all the encouragement he needed to try more of the same.

Now he has to deal with a dawdling Congress which nobody expects to make a distinguished record in the last half of this year's session, to which it returned Monday from a vacation. It was undistinguished in the first half.

This 90th Congress seemed clothed in defeating from the start. No one expected it to match the performance of the 89th which, in 1965, put on a fabulous performance, and it hasn't.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Simple Solution for Ending Wars

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown man, and I'm not ashamed to admit that I read your column and enjoy it. I don't always agree with you, but I think you do a lot of good by just letting people tell you their troubles.

I wish it were possible for someone to make the human female realize that she is the most powerful force in the world. She is even more powerful than the bomb.

Let's be frank, if women wanted to, they could end the war in 30 days. They could simply lock their bedroom doors, and say, "I will produce no more cannon fodder, and there will be no more 'playing house' until the war ends!"

Isn't that simple?

S. S. (JOPLIN)

DEAR S. S.: Too simple. You men could do the same thing.

DEAR ABBY: I have noticed that my husband has started to get too friendly with our oldest daughter. She is 13. Does a mother have the right to shoot anyone (including her husband) if he should harm her child, either physically or morally?

My husband's family is very lax, morally. I knew nothing of his family until after our marriage. In his youth he was given all the freedom of a tomcat, and like a tomcat, any female is fair game.

TOMCAT'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No healthy, normal father would entertain such a sick notion as you suggest. Tell your doctor about your suspicions without delay. He will tell you what your next move should be. (P. S. Lay that pistol down, Gal.)

DEAR ABBY: We have a son who has just finished his junior year in college and plans to attend graduate school a year from now. He became engaged to a sophomore girl last Easter. She is studying nursing. They want to get married this summer.

We have financed our son's education entirely. Our son and his girl want both sets of parents to finance their schooling and say if they are married it will be cheaper than living apart.

How much are parents supposed to "help" their children, and for how long? Don't you think if a boy is old enough to get married he is old enough to support himself and his wife?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: How much "help" parents give their children, and for how long is a decision that only the parents can make. It has been my observation, however, that when a child wants to marry while going to school, if the parents approve of the choice, they will give till it hurts. But if they don't approve, it "hurts" just short of the giving.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE PRETTY DIVORCEE, WHOSE ELDEST OF SEVERAL CHILDREN IS 14: Your daughter has written to ask me what to do when her mother goes out with "different guys" right after supper time and doesn't come home until after noon the next day.

Be advised that I have told her to call the police or sheriff to locate you. Your children are "worried sick" about you, Madame. Please consider them, and remedy this disgraceful situation.

Spain To Get Yank Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Spanish navy soon will get its first aircraft carrier, a quarter-century-old American veteran of nine major Pacific battles in World War II.

The 11,000-ton Cabot, renamed Pedalo by the Spanish, will be loaned to Spain for five years.

U.S. officials appeared perplexed when asked what military need Spain has for a carrier.

The attitude appeared to be that Spain may feel friendlier toward the United States as a result, and it can do no harm. The United States uses the Rota naval base on the Spanish coast and several Spanish airfields.

Actress' Death Natural

LONDON (AP) — Actress Vivien Leigh died of natural causes, a post-mortem examination revealed Monday. There will be no inquest, official sources said. Miss Leigh, 53, died at her London home Saturday. She had long been ill with tuberculosis.

Spain To Get Yank Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Spanish navy soon will get its first aircraft carrier, a quarter-century-old American veteran of nine major Pacific battles in World War II.

The 11,000-ton Cabot, renamed Dedalo by the Spanish, will be loaned to Spain for five years. U.S. officials appeared perplexed when asked what military need Spain has for a carrier.

The attitude appeared to be that Spain may feel friendlier toward the United States as a result, and it can do no harm. The United States uses the Rota naval base on the Spanish coast and several Spanish airfields.

Ohio House Votes on Bill To Save Jobs of Garnishees

By ROBERT E. MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who over-extend their credit and wind up having their wages garnished would stand less chance of being fired under a bill due for a vote today in the Ohio House.

But sponsoring Rep. R. R. Hollington Jr. R - 56 Shaker Heights was none too optimistic for the measure which has 10 co-sponsors representing both parties. "We'll have to fight," he predicted.

Hollington said the bill was to update present laws "which are at the least archaic" and to give another break to the "margin employees who might retain their jobs instead of going on the welfare rolls."

Employers usually dismiss workers if they get one or more garnishee on the books against them and "many of these able-bodied people wind up on welfare," the attorney and first-term lawmaker explained. His measure would limit garnishments to one at a time.

House and Senate committees, meanwhile, called for more meetings to work out details of other money bills—namely higher taxes—most of which would be enacted by counties under the administration policy of more local responsibility.

Chairman Walter L. White R-6 Allen of the House Taxation Committee scheduled initial hearings today on four measures for permissive county taxes. They include an income tax up to 1 per cent, a $5 motor vehicle fee on top of the $10 state license plate, and 1 per cent levies on real estate transfers and hotel accommodations.

The legislators returned Monday night from weekend recess and breezed through floor sessions opening their 27th work week. The House passed five bills, the Senate six.

Bills approved by the House would increase burial allowances for recipients of Aid to the Aged and needy blind from $180 to $220 and boost from $2,000 to $5,000 the value of estates which need not be administered by probate courts.

Across the Statehouse, senators completed passage of a House bill which permits the state welfare director to determine which payments to recipients must be classified as income in the calculation of benefits.

The measure wipes out an Ohio pilot program under which persons on relief rolls could keep receiving benefits until their earnings reached a certain point.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff R-8 Cincinnati, who sponsored the "incentive" bill two years ago, requested passage of the latest bill with "mixed emotions," explaining that without it Ohio would fail to qualify for federal funds accompanied by federal standards on recipients' incomes.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill which will permit licensed auctioneers to preside at court-ordered auctions, which under present law must be conducted by court officials.

In other developments, Democratic State Headquarters called on the legislature to approve a "straight-forward and honest" apportionment plan.

Eugene O'Grady, executive director, said a panel of apportionment experts are putting finishing touches on a plan to be offered by his party in the next few days. Republican and bipartisan proposals already are pending in the House and Senate.

Hollington asserted that the garnishment bill would not only help "original employees who might do better if given a second chance" but also to ease the burden on employers who must bear additional administrative costs in attachment proceedings.

The bill provides limitations on the amount of an employee's wages which may be withheld and calls for collections coinciding with the worker's payday. This is done by setting aside a portion of the wage which may not be withheld.

Under present law, only the first $100 of a single person's monthly salary is exempt from garnishment. The bill would raise this to $200.

The law now says that workers supporting families may keep 80 per cent of the first $300 of monthly income and 60 per cent for all above $300. The bill would change the law so that employees paid by the week could retain 70 per cent of their earnings, those paid twice a month could keep 65 per cent, and those by the month, 82½ per cent.

Hollington said the new schedule was needed to clarify vague provisions in the present law.

They Keep Getting Bigger, Bigger

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Ed Savella started building boats several years ago. Each one he built was bigger than the last, and the latest project was a 33-foot cabin cruiser.

One of his friends, who helped remove part of a wall of his workshop to get the two-ton hull out, said that when Savella "starts to build a 40-footer, I'm leaving town."

Hamilton County Hunting Place For Slayer, 15

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hamilton County authorities were heading toward Mansfield again today with Ronald Perkins, 15, convicted of first-degree manslaughter but refused admittance to Mansfield Reformatory because he was too young.

"The State Attorney General's Office said they had to take him," Hamilton County Sheriff Dan Tehan said Monday.

Reformatory Supt. B. J. Cooper refused to accept Perkins as an inmate Friday on grounds that no one under 16 can be admitted. But he said he would ask the attorney general how to handle the situation.

Perkins and two other Cincinnati youths were convicted in the fatal beating of University of Cincinnati graduate student Jesse Woodman, 25, near the school March 23.

The reformatory accepted the other two youths, Larry Newton, 16, and Cranston White, 17.

Nonprofit Broadcasting Bill Awaits House Panel's Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans on the House Commerce Committee hope to revise the Senate-passed bill for a nonprofit public broadcasting corporation to insure its freedom from governmental—and especially presidential—control.

Rep. William I. Springer of Illinois, ranking GOP committee member, made this clear in an interview today as the panel prepared to hear initial testimony from John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Springer said he supports the concept of a public, nonprofit educational broadcasting corporation and that he expects the committee to approve "some kind of bill." But he added, "I don't think it will be the Senate bill."

The administration's proposal, not changed much by the Senate, is supported strongly by committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., who is keeping control over the legislation by having meetings before the full committee rather than a subcommittee.

The Senate bill, passed by voice vote May 17, would create a public corporation to establish one or more noncommercial radio and television networks to distribute educational programs.

It would be directed by a 15-member board, nine members named by the President with Senate confirmation and six appointed by those nine.

The only money the corporation would receive under the Senate bill is $9 million to set it up. The Carnegie Commission on Educational Television estimated the broadcasting corporation's annual budget would start at $56 million and eventually reach about $100 million.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is buying $57.69 million worth of chemicals to defoliate jungles and crops in Vietnam which hide and feed the Viet Cong.

The Pentagon says the chemicals don't harm human or animal life and don't make crop land sterile.

But there has been some protest that the Johnson administration, in authorizing the use of relatively mild chemicals, might consider more lethal chemical warfare. A group of scientists, including seven Nobel Prize winners, protested last year to President Johnson against the use of chemicals in the Vietnam war.

U.S. forces used about $10 million worth of defoliants and herbicides last year on hundreds of thousands of acres of Vietnam jungle and Communist-held rice paddies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new device can give jet pilots advance warning of turbulence as much as 10 miles ahead, and with more development the advance distance may be 30 miles, the Federal Aviation Administration reports.

The device is an infrared spectrometer manufactured by the Barnes Engineering Co. of Stamford, Conn., and its use in detecting turbulences involves heat-measuring techniques.

Lending Truth Bill Nears OK in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Climaxing a seven-year fight, the Senate appears ready to pass with little fuss a so-called "truth-in-lending" bill that would require disclosure of the cost of credit to many borrowers.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected passage of the bill this afternoon after two or three hours of debate.

The bill would cover an estimated $100 billion in annual borrowing—$92.5 billion of consumer credit and the rest in second mortgages on homes.

Under its terms, borrowers would be given the true annual interest rate and the total financing charges in dollars and cents.

It is wholly a disclosure bill with no provisions to regulate the credit industry.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the measure, explained its purpose is to permit consumers to compare the cost of credit and shop for the best credit buy.

He emphasized the measure makes no assumption that consumer credit is bad or that large numbers of lenders engage in deceitful practices.

However, Proxmire said many borrowers are confused about what they pay for credit and occasionally there are unscrupulous lenders who prey upon the poor.

Proxmire assumed sponsorship of the legislation last year from former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who opened the fight for it in 1960.

Douglas conducted voluminous hearings on the subject, many outside of Washington, but never was able to muster the votes to get the bill to the Senate floor from the Banking Committee.

Prisoner Escapes Via Dumb Waiter

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Joe Martinez was being returned to his cell at the Lucas County Jail Monday when he jumped into a dumb waiter, rode it to a kitchen in the basement and escaped, police said.

Martinez, 24, made his escape just minutes after he had been ordered held for grand jury action on an armed robbery charge.

Popularity of 'Road Show' Called 'Sign of the Times'

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That grand old movie tradition, the road show, now appears to be a permanent fixture in film industry economics.

The road show, also known as the two-a-day or hard-ticket picture, dates back as far as "Birth of a Nation." The policy of selling reserved seats at advanced prices for special attractions has been attempted over the years with varying success. Only in recent years has the device been embraced by all film companies.

"It's a sign of the times," says a theater owner. "People don't mind paying more for the assurance of a reserved seat and the prestige of seeing an important new movie."

Some movie goers are shocked by the price. The top ticket for "Thoroughly Modern Millie" in Hollywood is $4. But there are still enough customers to assure a year's run or longer for a hit film in a metropolitan area. And a hit doesn't have to be a critical success. Some of the biggest attractions were blasted by highbrow critics: "Hawaii," "The Bible," "Millie" and "The Sound of Music."

It was "The Sound of Music," of course, that led the way. The industry's first $100-million grosser demonstrated how a single film, properly road shown, could buoy the fortunes of a company, Twentieth Century-Fox. To a lesser degree, "Doctor Zhivago" did the same for MGM.

There also have been misses: "Is Paris Burning?" "Battle of the Bulge," "Khartoum," "The Hallelujah Trail." But these

Mad Mockingbird Thumbs Nose at Miami Residents

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The mad mockingbird of Miami Beach was at it again Monday, but sorehead residents had to put away their air rifles and slingshots.

Almost all of Florida is a bird sanctuary and the menacing mockingbird is protected.

The latest attack was just as sneaky as those of the past two weeks: a swoop out of the sun and a nasty little knock on the back of a woman's head.

Kenneth McGovern of the humane society just suggested that everybody keep a cool and covered head.

He said the attacks were most likely a seasonal thing, "the birds are nesting now."

He said that to remove the bird, permission would have to be received from the Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of the Interior.

have been offset by the performances of the winners.

Here is how the major companies stand on road shows:

Columbia-In release: "Tamara of the Shrew" and "A Man for All Seasons." Now in production: "Funny Girl" and "McKenna's Gold."

The Disney Company is launching its first road show, "The Happiest Millionaire," may try "Blackbeard's Ghost."

MGM—"Doctor Zhivago" has almost played out in road show, "Grand Prix" is in release. Upcoming: "Gone with the Wind" in its first hard-ticket release; "Far from the Madding Crowd" with Julie Christie, Peter Finch; "2001: A Space Odyssey."

Paramount-Fox this fall: "Half a Sixpence," with Tommy Steele.

Twentieth Century-Fox—The "road-show company," has "The Sound of Music" still playing in a few hard-ticket situations, plus "The Sand Pebbles" and "The Bible." Later this year: "Dr. Doolittle" with Rex Harrison. Next year: "Star!" with Julie Andrews. Also planned: "Patton," "Hello, Dolly," "Toro, Tora, Tora."

about Pearl Harbor; "Tommy" with Shirley McLaine; "William the Conqueror."

United Artists—"Hawaii" in release. Future possibilities: "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," "Charge of the Light Brigade," Universal-In release: "Millie" Next year: "Sweet Charity" with Shirley McLaine; "William the Conqueror." Warner Brothers-The company is counting on another Lerner-Loewe Musical, "Camelot," to follow its "My Fair Lady."

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is buying $57.69 million worth of chemicals to defoliate jungles and crops in Vietnam which hide and feed the Viet Cong.

The Pentagon says the chemicals don't harm human or animal life and don't make crop land sterile.

But there has been some protest that the Johnson administration, in authorizing the use of relatively mild chemicals, might consider more lethal chemical warfare. A group of scientists, including seven Nobel Prize winners, protested last year to President Johnson against the use of chemicals in the Vietnam war.

U.S. forces used about $10 million worth of defoliants and herbicides last year on hundreds of thousands of acres of Vietnam jungle and Communist-held rice paddies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new device can give jet pilots advance warning of turbulence as much as 10 miles ahead, and with more development the advance distance may be 30 miles, the Federal Aviation Administration reports.

The device is an infrared spectrometer manufactured by the Barnes Engineering Co. of Stamford, Conn., and its use in detecting turbulences involves heat-measuring techniques.

Lending Truth Bill Nears OK in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Climaxing a seven-year fight, the Senate appears ready to pass with little fuss a so-called "truth-in-lending" bill that would require disclosure of the cost of credit to many borrowers.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected passage of the bill this afternoon after two or three hours of debate.

The bill would cover an estimated $109 billion in annual borrowing—$92.5 billion of consumer credit and the rest in second mortgages on homes.

Under its terms, borrowers would be given the true annual interest rate and the total financing charges in dollars and cents.

It is wholly a disclosure bill with no provisions to regulate the credit industry.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the measure, explained its purpose is to permit consumers to compare the cost of credit and shop for the best credit buy.

He emphasized the measure makes no assumption that consumer credit is bad or that large numbers of lenders engage in deceitful practices.

However, Proxmire said many borrowers are confused about what they pay for credit and occasionally there are unscrupulous lenders who prey upon the poor.

Proxmire assumed sponsorship of the legislation last year from former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who opened the fight for it in 1960.

Douglas conducted voluminous hearings on the subject, many outside of Washington, but never was able to muster the votes to get the bill to the Senate floor from the Banking Committee.

Prisoner Escapes Via Dumb Waiter

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Joe Martinez was being returned to his cell at the Lucas County Jail Monday when he jumped into a dumb waiter, rode it to a kitchen in the basement and escaped, police said.

Martinez, 24, made his escape just minutes after he had been ordered held for grand jury action on an armed robbery charge.

Popularity of 'Road Show' Called 'Sign of the Times'

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That grand old movie tradition, the road show, now appears to be a permanent fixture in film industry economics.

The road show, also known as the two-a-day or hard-ticket picture, dates back as far as "Birth of a Nation." The policy of selling reserved seats at advanced prices for special attractions has been attempted over the years with varying success. Only in recent years has the device been embraced by all film companies.

"It's a sign of the times," says a theater owner. "People don't mind paying more for the assurance of a reserved seat and the prestige of seeing an important new movie."

Some movie goers are shocked by the price. The top ticket for "Thoroughly Modern Millie" in Hollywood is $4. But there are still enough customers to assure a year's run or longer for a hit film in a metropolitan area. And a hit doesn't have to be a critical success. Some of the biggest attractions were blasted by highbrow critics: "Hawaii," "The Bible," "Millie" and "The Sound of Music."

It was "The Sound of Music," of course, that led the way. The industry's first $100-million grosser demonstrated how a single film, properly road shown, could buoy the fortunes of a company, Twentieth Century-Fox. To a lesser degree, "Doctor Zhivago" did the same for MGM.

There also have been misses: "Is Paris Burning?" "Battle of the Bulge," "Khartoum," "The Hallelujah Trail." But these

Mad Mockingbird Thumbs Nose at Miami Residents

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The mad mockingbird of Miami Beach was at it again Monday, but sorehead residents had to put away their air rifles and slingshots.

Almost all of Florida is a bird sanctuary and the menacing mockingbird is protected.

The latest attack was just as sneaky as those of the past two weeks: a swoop out of the sun and a nasty little knock on the back of a woman's head.

Kenneth McGovern of the humane society just suggested that everybody keep a cool and covered head.

He said the attacks were most likely a seasonal thing, "the birds are nesting now."

He said that to remove the bird, permission would have to be received from the Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of the Interior.

have been offset by the performances of the winners.

Here is how the major companies stand on road shows:

Columbia-In release: "Taming of the Shrew" and "A Man for All Seasons." Now in production: "Funny Girl" and "McKenna's Gold."

The Disney Company is launching its first road show, "The Happiest Millionaire," may try "Blackbeard's Ghost."

MGM—"Doctor Zhivago" has almost played out in road show, "Grand Prix" is in release. Upcoming: "Gone with the Wind" in its first hard-ticket

release; "Far from the Madding Crowd" with Julie Christie, Peter Finch; "2001: A Space Odyssey."

Paramount-Fox this fall: "Half a Sixpence," with Tommy Steele.

Twentieth Century-Fox—"The road-show company," has "The Sound of Music" still playing in a few hard-ticket situations, plus "The Sand Pebbles" and "The Bible." Later this year: "Dr. Doolittle" with Rex Harrison. Next year: "Star!" with Julie Andrews. Also planned: "Patton," "Hello, Dolly," "Toro, Tora, Tora," about Pearl Harbor; "Tom Swift," etc.

United Artists—"Hawaii" in release. Future possibilities: "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," "Charge of the Light Brigade," Universal-In release: "Millie." Next year: "Sweet Charity" with Shirley McLaine; "William the Conqueror." Warner Brothers-The company is counting on another Lerner-Loewe Musical, "Camelot," to follow its "My Fair Lady."

Armless Girl, 14, Golf Fan

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — After six months of playing golf, Ann Morissey, 14, can drive a ball almost 100 yards. Her best score is 71 for nine holes. Ann was born without arms.

Watching her dad, Al Morissey, hack his way around the course one day, Ann remarked that the game didn't look too tough.

Ann's only club, a wood obtained by club pro Al Patterson from a manufacturer, is 56 inches long — 13 inches longer than a regular shaft.

The club is braced under Ann's left armpit and strapped to her artificial left arm. She grips the club with the hooks she calls "my hands."

Morissey and Ann play nine holes three days a week. Ann has parred both of the par 3 holes but not the longer ones.

"I want to get where I can be respectable on the course," Ann says. "I feel that I can then serve as a sort of inspiration to other handicapped people and help them in some way."

Patterson is arranging for Ann to get other clubs.

Top Golfers Eye Greens at British Open

HOYLAK, England (AP) — The best golfers in the world took another look today at only one club in their bag — the putter.

Steaming sun and only gentle breeze off the Dee Estuary and the Irish Sea scorched out the 6,995-yard, par 72 Hoylake course, and the field of 130 started to realize that the 1967 British Open Championship would be won on the greens.

Jack Nicklaus, the 27-year-old Columbus, Ohio, holder of both the British and American Open titles, carried five putters with him Monday in practice sessions.

That put his bag at about 18 clubs, four over the limit, but he contended he knew what he was doing. He tinkered around on greens, now lightning fast in spots, dangerous in others because good turf can often turn out to be heavy in stretches.

Roberto De Vicenzo, the 48-year-old Argentinian whose record for consistency in the British Open can hardly be challenged over the past decade, spent eight solid hours doing only one thing — putting.

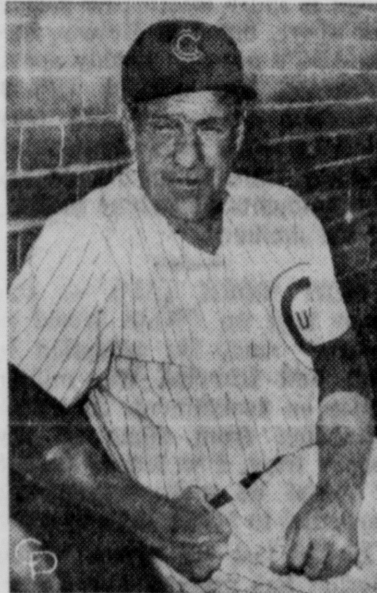

Doug Sanders, of Ojai, Calif., worked on his putting as well. He is rated at 10 to 1. Nicklaus at 11 to 4 is the clear-cut favorite for the championship which is played over 72 holes from Wednesday through Saturday.

Ex-School Teacher Ends Global Flight

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Ann Pellegrino, home from her 28-day, 30,000 mile globe-circling flight along the route taken in 1937 by Amelia Earhart, says she will write a book and a couple of magazine articles about her journey.

The ex-school teacher from Saline piloted her 1937 Lockheed Electra—the same model plane Miss Earhart used on her ill-fated flight—to a landing in the rain Monday at her home airport at Willow Run near Ypsilanti.

Lightle Hurls 2-Hitter for Kiwanis '9'

Lindsey pounded out 19 hits in a 12-7 dumping of General Electric and Kiwanis, backed by Tony Lightle's two-hitter, topped L. M. Butch, 11-4, Monday in the Babe Ruth League.

The Bakers and the Electricians were locked in a scoring duel with a total of 33 hits being tagged in the tilt. Pat Whaley socked two doubles for the winners, Mike Hill, Jack Easter and Tom Bowers doubled for Lindsey.

Redman homered for GE. George Griebel doubled.

The winners used three hurlers. Tom Bowers started and worked three. Pat Whaley came in for two frames of relief. Don Cordle finished. The staff walked six, struck out nine and allowed 14 hits.

MARTIN and Gary Griebel split duties for General Electric, walking nine, fanning six and scattering 19 hits.

Tony Lightle turned in a sparkling mound performance for Kiwanis, walking two, fanning 13 and allowing two hits, a single and a double.

Thomas started for Butch and was helped by Yates. They walked seven, fanned two and allowed 10 hits.

Lightle doubled for the winners and Thomas doubled for L. M. Butch.

Columbus Jets Scalp Braves On Pinch Homer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Richmond Braves soon might be in dire need of a team tooupee if they continue getting scalped by their International League opponents.

The Columbus Jets administered the razor at Parker Field Monday night, giving the Braves a 9-7 clipping on a three-run homer by pinchhitter Jesse Gonder. The victory completed the Jets' sweep of a four-game series.

In other IL play, Syracuse trounced Buffalo 3-0, Toronto split a doubleheader with Rochester, winning the opener 5-0 and dropping the nightcap 6-2, and Jacksonville ran into the same problem with Toledo, besting the Mud Hens 8-3 and losing the second game 5-3.

Gonder's eighth-inning blast came after the Braves had pulled to a 6-6 tie with five runs in the seventh, three of them on Jim Beauchamp's homer.

Jacksonville's Shaun Fitzmaurice drove in five runs on two homers in the first game against the Mud Hens.

CLEVELAND (AP) — A field of 204—to be cut to the low 60 and ties for Thursday and Friday rounds—tees off today in the 61st annual Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament over Beechmont County Club's par 71 course.

The 1966 champion, Bob Littler of Athens, will not be defending his crown. He is now a professional.

The amateur tournament, formerly match play, will be a 72-hole medal test this year for the first time.

Beechmont was the site of the Cleveland Open five years ago, and Arnold Palmer, Tommy Aaron and the late Tony Lema finished in a tie at 273, Palmer winning the playoff.

A former Ohio Amateur champion, Ed Preisler, who has been Beechmont club champion many times, said he would settle for an even par 284 in the Amateur.

Other former champions in the competition this year are Tony Blom of Cincinnati, 1959 and 1962 winner; Walter Stahl of Aurora, 1961 winner; Dick Flockenier of Mansfield, titlist in 1965; and Dan Carmichael of Columbus, 1960 king.

Elyria's Art Hudnutt, who twice reached the semifinals and will be in his 11th Ohio Amateur, described the field this year as a good one.

"There is a certain group which competes every year," Hudnutt said, "but there are a lot of good young players from all over the state entered in this one—players you've never seen before."

Rams Swap Moore for Bernie Casey

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bernie Casey's trip from West to East wound up from North to South.

The fleet flanker who performed for the San Francisco 49ers the past six years had figured on a trip to Atlanta.

Today his address is Los Angeles as the Rams went into the trade mart again and secured Casey's services as a pass target.

Los Angeles sent running back Tom Moore, a seven-year National Football League veteran, to the Falcons to get the 28-year-old Casey, a product of Bowling Green.

To start the cycle, the 49ers made Casey part of their deal with Atlanta which gave them the Falcons' draft pick last winter and the chance to acquire All America quarterback Steve Spurrier.

Los Angeles added to its running back strength in a trade with Minnesota to get Tommy Mason. And Moore, who spent six years of his NFL career at Green Bay after starring at Vanderbilt, informed Coach George Allen that business interests in Nashville wouldn't permit him to come West this year.

Controversial Spikes OK'd for Major Leagues

ANAHEIM (AP) — The controversial cleat-type baseball shoe introduced by speedster Maury Wills and banned by National League President Warren Giles three months ago will be permitted in the major leagues next spring, the Pro Baseball Rules Committee said Monday night.

The rules committee, meeting on the eve of the All-Star game at Anaheim, decided to permit the use of the unconventional spikes on an experimental basis, only in the majors, beginning in spring training next year.

Wills, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was ordered by Giles to change back to conventional spikes after wearing the new shoes — which resemble track shoes and do not have a triangular metal plate attached — during exhibition games last spring.

The rulebook prohibits the attachment of anything other than thin metal plate.

Beechmont was the site of the Cleveland Open five years ago, and Arnold Palmer, Tommy Aaron and the late Tony Lema finished in a tie at 273, Palmer winning the playoff.

A former Ohio Amateur champion, Ed Preisler, who has been Beechmont club champion many times, said he would settle for an even par 284 in the Amateur.

Other former champions in the competition this year are Tony Blom of Cincinnati, 1959 and 1962 winner; Walter Stahl of Aurora, 1961 winner; Dick Flockenzier of Mansfield, titlist in 1965; and Dan Carmichael of Columbus, 1960 king.

Elyria's Art Hudnutt, who twice reached the semifinals and will be in his 11th Ohio Amateur, described the field this year as a good one.

"There is a certain group which competes every year," Hudnutt said, "but there are a lot of good young players from all over the state entered in this one—players you've never seen before."

It's Chance Vs. Marichal In Today's Parade of Stars

By MURRAY CHASS
ANAHEIM (AP) — Dean Chance returns to the land of Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse today as the American League tries to transform itself from one of Snow White's seven dwarfs back into Jack the Giant Killer.

Chance, the controversial right-hander who was a California Angel when the Angels became neighbors of Disneyland last year, was named by AL Manager Hank Bauer to start today's All-Star game against the National League. Currently making a glittering comeback after being traded to Minnesota last winter, the 26-year-old Chance, 11-7, has received the starting honor for the second time in as many All-Star appearances.

In his All-Star debut in 1964, the Ohio farmboy blanked the Nationals on two hits in the first three innings. The NL eventually erupted for a 7-4 triumph. The loss for the Americans part of a skid that has seen them plummet from a 12-4 All-Star lead to a 19-17 deficit. The National League has won 15 of the last 21 games, eight of the last 10 and the last four.

Before denting the National's superiority, however, the American League must get past Juan Marichal, San Francisco's brilliant right-hander who was named to start for the NL by Manager Walter Alston.

The winningest pitcher in the majors with a 12-7 record, Marichal is making his second start in six appearances and seeking his third victory against no defeats.

Bauer's forces have been decimated by injuries, primarily to Detroit's Al Kaline and Baltimore's Frank Robinson, the two highest vote getters on the 25-man squad.

Kaline fractured his right hand June 27 by slamming his bat into the bat rack after striking out, and Robinson has double vision as the result of a mild concussion he suffered the same day sliding into Chicago's Al Weis at second base.

Tony Oliva of Minnesota replaced Kaline in the line-up while Tony Conigliaro of Boston took Robinson's place. Oliva will play center field, Conigliaro in right with Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in left.

Shortstop Rico Petocelli of Boston has a bruised wrist, and first baseman Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota reinjured his groin during the weekend, but both were expected to play.

Rounding out the AL team are Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore at third and Detroit's Bill Freehan catching.

Facing Chance in the National League line-up are Roberto Clement of Pittsburgh, Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Lou Brock of St. Louis from right to left in the outfield, Atlanta's Joe Torre catching, Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis at first, Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski at second and Gene Alley at short and Rich Allen of Philadelphia at third.

HOT WORK-OUTS—Heavyweights George Chuvalo of Canada and Joe Frazier of Philadelphia try to cool off after workouts in training for their bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, July 19—one of the heavyweight title elimination fights.

8 Top Fighters Set for Tourney

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Fight fans throughout the nation will get a break out of the eight-man heavyweight elimination tournament and other fights coming up among the big boys. The price is right. It will be free for most everyone.

By signing Floyd Patterson, the former two-time heavyweight king, for the World Boxing Association-approved tourney Monday, Sports Action, Inc., lined up eight of the 10 top men in the WBA's rankings.

The only exceptions are unbeaten Joe Frazier of Philadelphia and 10th-ranked George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion from Toronto, who will battle in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden July 19. That fight is not part of the tourney, since Frazier prefers to make one match at a time.

But it will be telecast into homes by MSG-RKO General Presentations.

The four quarter-finals, the semifinals and the final of the elimination tourney to determine a successor to defrocked Cassius Clay, will be telecast nationally into your home by ABC-TV.

New York will be blacked out of the Frazier-Chuvalo telecast and sites of the tournament bouts also won't get the live telecasts.

ABC-TV will show the quarter-finals and semifinals on the Wide World of Sports program on Saturdays, starting about 5 p.m., Eastern time. The final, at the Houston Astrodome, in January or February of 1968, will be shown on prime evening time over ABC.

Patterson, ranked sixth by the WBA and a key man in the tourney, probably will meet seventh-ranked Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles in a return bout at either Los Angeles or Oakland, Calif., on Oct. 28. They fought to an exciting draw a month ago in Los Angeles.

The other three quarter-finals were set up previously.

The tourney kicks off with the Aug. 5 doubleheader at the Astrodome matching Ernie Terrell, No. 4, Chicago, against Thad Spencer, No. 5, San Francisco, and Jimmy Ellis, No. 8, Louisville, Ky., vs. Leotis Martin, No. 9, Philadelphia.

Then, on Sept. 16, at Offenbach Stadium, near Frankfurt, Germany, Karl Mildenberger, No. 1 and the European champion from Germany, will meet Oscar Bonavena, No. 3 of Argentina. This will be teamed to the United States via the Early Bird Satellite.

ABC said the semifinals are tentatively scheduled for Nov. 11 and Dec. 2.

Adios John Wins Scioto's Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Adios John took the lead at the head of the stretch to win the $1,400 featured race in 2:05 at Scioto Downs Monday night.

Adios John, a 5-year-old gelding owned by Phil Vogelmeyer of Newark, paid $7, $3.80 and $2.60.

June Barrett and Camp Dorn teamed up for the 1-7 daily double which paid $220.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two longshots with undistinguished records combined for a whopping $6,574.60 daily double at River Downs Monday.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I have heard talk and read some newspaper comment on the subject of an airport in Pickaway County. So I would like to state my views concerning same.

Mr. Dunlap of Williamsport, if I recall correctly, said the people he had conversed with or the majority of them were in favor of it. Well I for one am not and the vast majority I have talked with are against it.

Mr. Dunlap says it would bring in more industry to the county, if so, what do we need with more industry? We cannot supply the industry we have with adequate help. We are bringing in help from Chillicothe, Washington C. H. and numerous other places. I will agree we have a class of people who never would work or never will regardless of pay or opportunity. Mr. Dunlap says it would be a help to farmers. I would like to know in what way? I have been a farmer all my life.

We have good industry here, they came without an airport and I think if more want to come here, they will come without or with an airport. It is a fact you or I can go to the airport in Columbus in less than an hour.

It is not only Mr. Dunlap, but the Jaycees of Circleville who are in favor of an airport. If I am correct, which I think I am, the Jaycees consist of young business men of the city. I have had business dealings with quite a few of them over the years and am surprised at them using, what I consider, such poor judgement. Ask yourself the question, How many of you would use an airport if we had one in the county? And would it be worth the extra money it would cost? Mr. Dunlap made the statement, "it was just like throwing away $100,000." I say "no", in the first place, how can we throw away something we never had? I say we are saving that amount and more. I don't think you are considering the fact that if we spent that much money on an airport, it would just be the beginning of paying.

To me $100,000 is a large amount of money. Then we would have to keep it in repair over the years, keep weeds down, furnish lights, snow removal equipment, repairs to the runways etc. Who is going to pay for this? We the taxpayers, you and I.

I take my hat off to one of our Commissioners for the stand he takes, namely, Charles Morris. He and I feel sure the others are of the same opinion, that taxpayers money should not be used to pay for an airport. If big business wants an airport, let them build it and support it, for in my estimation, they would be the only ones it would benefit.

Let me ask you, is it not a fact that G. E. the Police Dept. and the Fire Dept., as well as the Postal Dept. are needing help? If I am wrong, which I do not think I am. I am sorry for making that statement. But friends, I just do not agree with you.

The time may come when we would need an airport in Pickaway County but I am sure it is not now.

It looks to me like our young businessmen of Circleville and some of our big business is trying to make monkeys out of us taxpayers. And Lady Bird has already got trees out for us to climb, no offense meant, but I just cannot go along with your ideas.

Now let us put values where values belong. I believe we do need an addition to Berger Hospital. We need new rooms, better equipment, and more supplies than what we have now. Go out to Berger Hospital and talk with the administrator and nurses, they will tell you the same.

Take the two recent accidents we had on Route 22 and 23. The 15-year-old girl was my grand-daughter, she could have been your daughter or your grand-daughter as well as mine.

I am sure you would have wished as I did, that she could have been in Berger instead of University Hospital in Columbus so we could have visited and helped care for her more. She was badly injured, fractured neck, and a double fracture in her right leg, foot badly mangled which will require a lot of grafting.

Yes, I am in favor of an extension to Berger Hospital. I would not have made these statements a few years ago as I did not like the place either, but, I was a patient there three different times last summer, fourteen and one half weeks the last time; yet there was only two and one half weeks of that time I knew what was going on around me. Perhaps some of you will say, "you have slipped just a little", or "lost your mind". I say no. I think I still know where to place values, and I think I am calling them right now. I fully believe we have as good a staff of nurses at Berger as any hospital in the city of Columbus as I have been in most of them, to name a few: Mt. Carmel, Riverside, Grant and University and I find no fault with them, but they are just as good, at Berger.

I believe we have as good doctors in Circleville as there are in Columbus: I will name three: Dr's. J. M. Hedges, F. W. Anderson and V. D. Kerns. I have had service from all three, there are others I am sure. No—I am not angry at anyone, and do hope to keep you all as my friends; we may differ in our views but remain friends also.

Yes, why don't you, if you have that amount of money collected, use it to advance and promote a Bond Issue for our Hospital? I am sure there is not one of you that will not have use and need of Berger Hospital sooner or later.

We have spent money to build and expand our schools, our churches in the past few years which I believe is alright and we should have. But my Bible says, "These things ye should

Family Hopeful of Recovery

Chances 'Slim' for 11-Year-Old Girl Unconscious Since February

By PETE WILLS

At a time when one's life should be at peak activity and energetic output, 11-year-old Joanie Pobst lies quietly in her air-conditioned room, oblivious to her surroundings.

Little Jo Ann, "Joanie," to all who are close to her, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon (Dick) Pobst, Route 2, Ashville, has been unconscious since undergoing delicate open-heart surgery in February.

The operation was a complete success, but a quirk of Mother Nature that sometimes occurs has left Joanie in a condition that makes her particularly susceptible to bacterial infection.

According to doctors at University Hospital in Columbus, there is a weakness in Joanie's physical make-up that does not allow her to provide sufficient antibodies to combat infection.

IT IS a result of her affliction that she now lies unconscious in her "hospital-like" bedroom.

Joanie's heart ailment was brought to medical attention when she was three years old. Doctors told Mr. and Mrs. Pobst that the main valve would have to be replaced when Joanie reached the age of ten.

But in 1962 she had a congenital defect of the aorta that had to be repaired and in 1965, endocarditis, an infection which damaged the leaflets of the aortic valve. The valve was replaced at that time.

Then in September of 1966, an infection was again incurred and the valve had to be replaced. The operation was performed using a homograft method (a human valve) in place of the plastic type that is commonly used.

According to Mrs. Pobst, Charles DeBakey, the noted heart surgeon, examined Joanie and found all to be satisfactory following the homograft operation.

an avalanche of publicity, due to the seriousness of the operation, and was adversely affected.

"THIS psychologically upset Joanie. Television cameras and all the news media made such a commotion about her that she was very visibly upset over the whole thing," says her mother.

Surrounded by a menagerie of stuffed animals, Joanie was well on her way to recovery at her home near Ashville. But in January the infection that she is so sensitive to damaged her heart again.

"There was no time to think of possibly aggravating the infection or for taking the usual month or so to prepare Joanie for the operation. We had to go through with it immediately, Joanie's life depended upon it," relates Mrs. Pobst.

The University Hospital staff performed the operation to perfection, but Joanie's unusual condition did not afford complete success.

Her heart had stopped during the operation for some reason still unknown to the surgeon. This, causing lack of oxygen in the brain, coupled with the already serious infection, rendered Joanie unconscious.

A heart massage was successful, but there was no way of determining whether any damage was done to the brain. This is always a major concern of doctors whose patients' heart stop for a short time.

DOCTORS informed Mr. and Mrs. Pobst that it would be eight weeks before they could be sure as to the possibility of any brain damage.

"I could tell just by looking at the faces of the doctors that they were becoming less and less optimistic by the day," relates the distraught mother.

Joanie was under intensive care for ten weeks following the operation. Her heart had stopped twice while in the IC ward and had to be revived by means of electrical shock.

Mrs. Pobst recalls that before this operation, Joanie seemed to be afraid. "She never was before the others. In fact, other times, she was playing quite happily the night before the operations. But this time, she was afraid. They gave her a pre-op shot and she cried terribly, which was something she didn't do before. I know she was afraid."

While she was in intensive care, the Pobsts were only allowed to see Joanie for ten minutes twice a day. "I had to keep track of my other children by telephone."

After weeks in the hospital, Joanie was well enough to be taken from the hospital. She was still unconscious.

A SUGGESTION by University doctors to put Joanie in a nursing home met with immediate opposition from Mr. and Mrs. Pobst. "We wanted to have Joanie at home so when she came out of the coma, we would be right there," said Mrs. Pobst.

This, the doctors said, would be too much of a burden, but determination on the part of Joanie's parents brought her home.

So now Joanie rests quietly in her bedroom that looks more like a hospital room than a small girl's hideaway.

What are Joanie's chances for recovery?

Doctors tell Mr. and Mrs. Pobst that "medically and clinically speaking, the chances for recovery are very slim."

"But we keep hoping. We have read a lot about people who have been unconscious for long periods of time and all at once, they snap out of it. I was reading about one person who was in a coma for nearly seven years and just recently recovered."

"SOMETIMES we think Joanie can hear us. We aren't sure, but sometimes there seems to be a slight reaction to what we say to her. Whether she hears us or isn't able to hear us because of possible brain damage is something we just don't know."

The family is deeply indebted to a great number of people, says Mrs. Pobst. "I have tried to write to each one, personally thanking them for the help we have received, but the number of generous people is getting so large that I just can't keep up."

"Everyone has been so helpful that we just won't ever be able to repay people for what they have done for us. Churches, school classes, individuals, just about everyone that has come in contact with Joanie has helped her in some way."

"All we can say is thank you."
